MRS C. J. FERGUSON YIELDS TO DEATH

Mrs. C. J. Ferguson, sister of Mrs. H. Mumaugh, of 668 North Union street, died at the Mumaugh home this morning at an early hour. Two weeks ago last Tuesday her clothing caught fire from a hot plate and Mrs. Ferguson sustained burns from her waist to her feet. The strong wind fanned the flames arising from contact with the hot plate.

Mrs. Ferguson, being a sufferer from rheumatism, was unable to aid herself. She was removed from the hospital to her sister's home yesterday. Misses Mary and Julia Gallagher and Bernard Gallagher, of 663 North Union street, are other sisters and brother. Mrs. Ferguson, up to the time of the accident, resided with the Gallagher family. A son Harry, resides in Akron.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 8:45 o'clock at St. Rose Catholic church, where she was a worshipper. Interment will be at Woodlawn.

BODY OF OLD MAN STILL UNCLAIMED

The body of the old man found beneath a tree on the Cridersville road, five miles south of Lima, by school children on Wednesday, remains unclaimed by relatives at the Eckert mortuary in South Main street. "While he told police his name was James Powers and his residence at Woons, Pa., inquiries sent to officials of that city failed to locate any of his family.

Deputy Sheriff Marion Watt, Jr., yesterday afternoon identified the body as that of the old man who was arrested after having just been let out of jail on Tuesday, for attempting to communicate with prisoners. He was seen giving something placed on a board to prisoners.

Sheriff Eley released him when he could not find out what it was he put through the window. He promised to leave the city and was supposed to have been on his way when death overtook him. To the sheriff, he said his name was William J. Russell.

FOUND NOT GUILTY.

SWIFTY'S BIRTHDAY: GETS OFF EASY

"Swift" Leonard came near being the victim of a serious accident this morning. It all came about when he was brought in police court following his weekly jaunt with "frewater." He was just about to plead guilty to a charge of drunkenness with the expectation of hearing the old song, "45 and costs and 30 days," when Judge Anderson suspended the sentence of Walter Burr. The latter stated that he was 63 years old yesterday and he thought that the additional milestone should be celebrated.

Leonard was not slow in making up his mind to the story he would tell the judge.

"Swift" Leonard, called the judge.

"Swift" acknowledged the call of his name by stepping up to the desk of the judge.

"You are charged with being drunk," said the judge. "How do you plead?"

"Guilty," was the reply.

"Well, tell your story," said the judge, expecting to hear the usual tale of woe.

"Well, I will tell you I am 46 years old today and so I started to celebrate last night that I would have a good start," said the prisoner.

"Sentence suspended," said the judge.

Other committeemen are F. L. Maitre, Walter H. Clarke, F. E. Harman, S. K. Speliacy, Elmer D. Webb, M. U. Basinger, A. D. Hildreth, W. S. Shepard and Dan Miller.

HOOVER-BOND STORE IS BEAUTIFUL SCENE AT FALL OPENING

Flowers, ferns, music, and a glorious day aided the Hoover-Bond store yesterday in its formal fall opening. The store which has been newly and beautifully decorated was filled both afternoon and evening with admiring crowds. Of particular interest and value were the oil painted panels, which were placed above a brown and green tiffany glaze wall on the first and second floors, depicting the designs peculiar to the different periods of furniture.

Beneath each panel was a group of furniture which embodied the designs of the panel. Among the periods represented were Gothic, William and Mary, Empire, Italian Renaissance, Sheraton, Flemish, Louis XV, Jacobean, Charles II, Queen Anne and Colonial. The office suite has also been redecorated and is as attractive as the show rooms.

Everywhere were baskets of flowers and Japanese paper flowers were used to twine around the columns, the stairs and the balcony. On the balcony was placed an orchestra, directed by James R. McBeth, which played afternoon and evening. Miss Mary Shaw, accompanied by Miss Twila Smith gave vocal numbers during the day.

Representatives from the 22 other stores were present at the opening, and in the evening, according to the custom of the syndicate, a dinner was given at the Elks home. P. E. Dundore, general manager of the Lima store, was toastmaster of the occasion. W. E. Hoyer, president, and Victor W. Bond responded with short talks.

Guests for this occasion included G. B. Bond, West Unity, Ohio; Charles A. Wier, Chicago; Charles B. Stewart, Kalamazoo; Paul A. Moore, Huntington, Ind.; O. R. Peters, Marion, O.; H. Chain, Canton; Lou C. Jenkins, Columbus; F. H. Wharf, Mansfield; A. D. Rowlands and wife, Mansfield; Mr. and Mrs. C. Allen, Postoria; W. F. Hoover and wife, Lima, Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Bond, Lima; Miss Mary Shaw, Miss Margaret Bond, Miss Twila Smith, Columbus Grove; Miss Helen Fletcher, Lima; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Rickotts, Pittsburgh; Charles Rowlands, Columbus; Charles Phillips, Steubenville; George Hanson, Tiffin; William M. Penny, Ashtabula; T. E. Taylor, Mansfield; Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Dundore, Lima; Bert Miller, E. H. Burns and wife, H. P. Kike and Laurence McKinley.

SENATOR GORE, BLIND ORATOR, BRILLIANT MAN

torts resulted in the assignment of Gore to Lima, his appearance here being one of the few he will make in Ohio.

The record of the senator is a series of triumphs which have proved an inspiration to the blind boys in all parts of the country. His campaigns for the United States senate have been remarkable, as the handicap of loss of vision never appears to have an obstacle. His wife and daughter read to him and his retentive memory for facts and figures, as well as for lengthy quotations from literary classics, stands him in good stead. Stories of his ability in debate are numerous, and his oratorical talents, cultivated despite his handicap, command the respect of opponents as well as of adherents.

Reports have been current during the first announcement of his coming that Gore opposed the eight-hour day bill. The following telegram, received yesterday by Chairman David E. Baxter of the county central committee, answers the charge.

"There were but two democrats in the United States senate who voted against the Adamson bill, to wit: Clark of Arkansas and Hardwick of Georgia. W. L. Finley, chairman."

Baxter had wired the state committee at Columbus for positive information regarding the vote on the eight-hour day measure and Finley's reply is pointed out as a refutation of any possible republican efforts to incite resentment against the blind senator by misrepresentation.

Clark, president pro tempore of the senate, died early in the week. It will be remembered that he defeated Senator Atlee Pomerene of Ohio for that position last December by the narrow margin of five votes, and the unexpected demise of Clark makes certain the election of the Canion statesman as president pro tempore when the sixty-fourth congress reconvenes in December for the second session.

Raymond P. Day, son of J. R. and Mrs. Lewis W. Day, of 656 Prospect avenue, has been appointed stenographer to the advisory committee on aeronautics. Mr. Day took the examination some time ago and was successful. The position pays a splendid salary, being a government job.

Rev. John G. Behr, pastor of St. Gerard's parish on North Main street, is in Cincinnati this week, assisting his two co-workers, Rev. Henry Sippel and Rev. John Grell. In giving a mission at one of the prominent churches in that city. During Father Behr's absence, Rev. Martin Mulligan is being assisted in the local parish work by Fathers Hanley and Grine of Brooklyn, N. Y.

ENOS STUCKEY, AGED 70 YEARS, DIES

Enos Stuckey, 70 years of age, died at 10 o'clock this morning after an illness of but a few minutes from acute indigestion, at his home at 658 South Union street. He was a retired plasterer.

He was born May 2, 1846, in Lafayette, Allen county. The widow has four daughters and two sons are left. Children are Mrs. W. D. McFaray, of Chicago; Mrs. O. A. Ober, of Decatur, Ind.; Mrs. Overy, of Toledo, and Miss Bernice Stuckey at home; A. J. Stuckey, of Missouri and Elwood Stuckey, at home.

Funeral arrangements have not been made. Burial will be at Woodlawn.

A want ad in the Times-Democrat will bring quick results.

CHURCH SHOULD BE IN LEAD DECLARES PASTOR C.S. BUCHER

"The churches should lead and not lag behind," says the Rev. C. S.

Bucher in speaking of the policy of liberal Goodwin, that invented the flexible film that made motion pictures possible. This invention offers churches the only true Esperanto by which their message can be spoken to children and to grandparents, to Americans and to foreigners.

Jesus illustrated his sermons with object lessons of a dead sparrow, a lost coin and a "child in the midst." Therefore Mr. Bucher will illustrate his sermon Sunday night on "Joseph the Ruler," with the third series of motion pictures on "Joseph's Trials in Egypt." There will also be one extra film on "The Landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock." No admission is charged at these services.

HUGHES FOR JUDGE

Lima voters, regardless of party, should be glad to support for the court of appeals Kent W. Hughes, the first local man in a score of years to get close to the honor. His name will appear on the non-partisan judiciary ballot as a candidate for the short term, or unexpired term of Judge Timothy T. Ansherry, who resigned to practice law in Washington after being appointed by Governor Cox to fill the place of the late Judge Donnelly.

A criterion of the popularity of Kent Hughes is to be found in his great plurality in the August primaries. The official vote of Allen county is as follows: Meek 176, Guthery 212, Johnson 316, Conn 383, Duffy 529, Hughes the enormous vote of 1922. His total was 276 higher than the combined vote of his five antagonists and three and a half times that of his nearest competitor. More than that, he received a greater percentage of the total vote of his home county than did any other candidate in his county.

A testimonial such as that speaks volumes for the Lima attorney. His opponent, James E. Robinson of Marysville, appointed by Governor Willis last spring after Ansherry resigned, is not of the same legal calibre as Kent, for the latter has a large practice covering several counties and his successful defense in the Baxter cases brought him state-wide attention.

The history is not supposed to be chosen by political parties, according to the rotating ballot used without party emblems, and there is now no reason why the Republicans, as well as the Democrats, should not and in swelling Kent W. Hughes' majority to such proportions as will show the other fifteen counties that Lima and Allen county know the meaning of home pride and broad-minded appreciation.

COURTESY

If there were any characteristics of Woodrow Wilson which struck more forcibly than others, the representative of The Times-Democrat who boarded the president's car at Crestline Wednesday in quest of an audience with the chief executive, they were the profound courtesy, courtly bearing and elemental politeness of the man.

To converse with President Wilson is more than a pleasant experience. It is a revelation of the full meaning of the old-fashioned Southern courtesy of the sincerest type. He is careful to show utmost attention. He preserves at all times the appearance of one who knows the little marks of kindness. In his presence no man could avoid feeling that he was with a gentleman. His voice is quiet, not loud. There is no trace of conscious condescension, no appearance of superiority. There is even a semblance of humbleness, or perhaps of mere blunt, matter-of-fact, every-day equality, in his attitude.

In addressing a porter or a brakeman President Wilson says "please". "No, sir," and "yes, sir," and always attached to his remarks, the "sir" being inevitable no matter to whom he speaks. He will not seat himself until his guests are seated. He never interrupts. He even goes far out of his way in his solicitude for the comfort and entertainment of those whom he is entertaining.

That is characteristic of a gentleman. And no man can meet him without feeling that he has met a kindly, genial, unusually polite official. Never pompous, never domineering, he talks to men as an equal, not a superior. Despite his serious aspect and occasional appearance of grave concern, he has a smile for every person he meets, be that person a senator or a switchman, a journalist or a school girl, a servant or a statesman. It takes a gentleman to do that, and Woodrow Wilson is a gentleman if he is nothing more, a fate that might well be brought to the attention of his discomfited rival who is criticizing and carping and finding fault with the rambling persistence of a village gossip.

Do the voters of the country understand what it means to have control of congress pass such men as Gallinger of New Hampshire, Warren of Wyoming, Penrose of Pennsylvania, Smoot of Utah, Curtis of Kansas, Borah of Michigan, Phil. Campbell of Kansas, etc.? It means just what happened when congress was controlled by them before—closed committee rooms, secret sessions, return of the lobby, tariff and probably currency legislation dedicated to the service of special privilege and special interests.

At the recent Hughes conference in New York City, Senator Smoot of Utah, a reactionary captain in the congress of the United States, was the most conspicuous and notable person in evidence. He is the one whom Col. Roosevelt and other progressives four years ago characterized as a political second-story man.

It is difficult to satisfy Republican statesmen. They complain about large appropriations, which are due to $600,000,000 for preparedness, and complain at the same time because more was not done for preparedness.

Bethlehem Steel knocks the "temporary" out of prosperity by announcing that orders now booked—$300,000,000 worth—will exhaust its capacity for two years ahead.

The Republican campaign text book, in its biographical eulogy of Fairbanks, alludes to his stand for "honest money". A reference, doubtless, to the campaign fund of 1901.

Hughes is well on the road to become fully 1,000 per cent a candidate—or more.

GOOD EVENING—Another chance to register next Thursday.

The President's Column

ALLIANCES.

I shall never myself consent to an entangling alliance, but I would gladly consent to a disengaging alliance, an alliance which would disentangle the people of the world from those combinations in which they seek their own separate and private interests, and unite the power of the world to preserve the peace of the world upon a basis of common right and justice. There is liberty there, not entanglement. There is freedom, not entanglement. There is achievement, or the highest things for which the United States has declared its principle—Memorial Day speech, Washington, 1916.

INFLUENCES OF OCCUPATIONS.

Men are colored and governed by their occupations and their surroundings and their habits. If I wanted to change the law radically I would not consult a lawyer. If I wanted to change business methods radically I would not consult a man who made a conspicuous success by using the present methods that I wanted to change. Not because I would distrust these men, but because I would know that they would not change their thinking overnight; that they would have to go through a long process of reacquaintance with the circumstances of the time before they would be converted to my point of view.—To World's Salesmanship Congress, Detroit, July 19, 1916.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

When I became governor, I found that there was a habit that I had to break up on the part of my callers, and that was the habit of talking behind their hands. When a man tried to draw me off in a corner of the room I knew exactly what he was after, and I stood pat on that occasion. I didn't allow myself to be drawn away from the open door, which to me was a symbol of my connection with the people of New Jersey. If you want to liberate your city governments, therefore, where they need liberation, if you want to set your state governments free, if you want to get at the government of the nation by the process of genuine public opinion, do not remove the middleman, remove the man back of the middle men, and see to it that there are no special privileges which can be served by those secret and illicit processes.—At Chicago, October 10, 1912.

FIRE OF PERSONAL EXPERIENCE.

So I have come, willing to make this narrative of experience to you I have come through the fire since I talked to you last. Whether the metal is purer than it was, God only knows; but the fire has been there, the fire has penetrated every part of it, and if I may believe my own thoughts, I have less partisan feeling, more impatience of party maneuverers, more enthusiasm for the right thing, no matter whom it hurts, than I ever had before in my life.—To National Press club, Washington, May 16, 1916.

EPIGRAMS.

Valor is self-respecting. I would be just as much ashamed to be rash as I would to be a coward. There are no days of special patriotism. There are no days when

THOUSANDS OF SICK WOMEN

Helped Every Year by Common Sense Suggestions Given Free by The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co.

For forty years women suffering from all kinds of female ills have been writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Thus they receive common sense suggestions drawn from a vast volume of experience, and thousands of sick women have been saved from untold suffering, as letters like the following clearly show:—

Newark, O., Oct. 10.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman. My Sanative Wash is just the thing to overcome female weakness. I have told young mothers as well as older ones about your remedies, and what they have done for me. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life, as my health was very bad when I wrote you, but now I can do my own work and have not had a sick day since I began taking your remedies. I keep the Compound and Liver Pills on hand all the time." Mrs. Geo. Thomas, 105, 24 Sherwood st., Newark, Ohio.

Why don't you write for free advice? Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

you should be more patriotic than on other days. We don't live in this free land to go through the motions of politics, but to get the virus of statesmanship.

The princes among us are those who forget themselves and serve mankind.

TRAVELETTE BY NIKSAH.

CHICAGO'S LIBRARY
 The Chicago Public Library takes up a block of Michigan avenue facing the lake front—an imposing pile of smoke-stained stone holding aloft the banner of research and reflection in the midst of commerce and fashion. By craning out of the big windows that pierce its thick walls it is possible to look down on the shiny tops of automobiles and the imported hats of ladies going in open tour-ist cars. Without craning in the least you can see the purple waters of the lake lying like a dark cloud along the gray horizon.

To the connoisseur in libraries, there are points about this one that can not but attract attention. For one thing the public is allowed, nay even apparently encouraged, to whistle in the corridors. After the stern repression of musical tendencies that is enforced in such libraries as the Astor, the Congressional, or the British Museum, this privilege is estimable at its true worth. You whistle the "Star Spangled Banner" as you approach the reading room. Even more commendable is the practice of reserving the reading desks for readers of reference works. If you want to read the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire you are encouraged and offered a seat. If you would peruse "The Eyes of the World" from the open shelves, you have to do it standing on one leg or take it home. If this attitude were universally adopted by libraries, more solid literature would be consumed everywhere.

Having savored the significance of these points, you enter a modest little elevator and ascend toward the reading room. The elevator is leisurely and smooth and unhurried. The operator closes the doors and turns on the current with the slow movement of one pronouncing a benediction. It is the ideal library elevator. The difference between it and the elevator in the skyscraper next door is a measure of the difference between two ideals.

As soon as you enter the reading room you see that the designers have made a grave mistake. They should have put the reading room on the other side. The long hall with its rank of long tables looks directly out over the lake. The rich purple waters dappled with whitecaps stretch out to where the horizon meets the dim sky. They call insistently with the call of spray-veiled breezes and open spaces. A great lake steamer hovers in the distance like the ghost of a ship floating on a cloud. It is a magnificent view, but it makes it hard to concentrate on a philosophic treatise.

WOMAN'S MUSIC CLUB SEASON OPENS WITH RECITAL

Crowds which filled the Mark street Presbyterian church last evening listened with rapt interest and attention to the excellent lecture and recital on "American Music" given by Miss Henrietta Weber of Chicago, assisted by Mrs. Agnes Kountz Dederich of Toledo and Miss Gail Watson of Lima. This lecture recital was the formal opening of the Woman's Music Club season and no more auspicious opening could have been desired.

Miss Weber opened the evening with a short delineation of the accomplishments of American musicians, which, when considering that the history of such achievements reaches back only over a period of about 15 years, was rather short, but intensely interesting.

A promising prediction she gave, however, was that we have all the reason in the world to believe that it will not be long before America can take her place among the recognized music centers of the world.

A good point which she brought out in respect to this was the development of the interest and understanding of the people, which was, and would be, instrumental in hastening the musical growth of our nation.

Miss Weber's charm and talent is not only in her ability to lecture, but she is a pianist of exceptional merit. With the finishing of the first group, which included "Roto Perpetuo" and "Moonshine," characteristic pieces of MacDowell, and "American Polonaise" by Carpenter, Miss Weber showed that she possesses not only a beautiful touch but an admirable mastery over tonal effects, and an understanding and sympathy with the composer. This was again particularly brought out in the playing of "Four Portraits (M.S.)" by Sowerby, a composition of four parts by a youthful composer of 19 years, who paints the picture of each of the four children of a family which he often visits.

A group selected from "Les Reeves de Columbine" suite by Mrs. H. H. Beach, was well received by the audience and showed Miss Weber's skill as a colorist and her unusual command of nuances.

In the last group, "In the South," a suite by Powell, into which is woven the plaintiveness, the color and the rhythm of the south, Miss Weber was at her best, showing that while her delicacy is fascinating she has strength which is sonorous and euphonious.

An interesting note was brought out in the recital by marking the adroit use made of the rag time motif by Carpenter in "The American Polonaise" and Powell in "The Pioneer Dance."

Mrs. Agnes Kountz Dederich, soprano, of Toledo, gave able support to the recital. Mrs. Dederich gave a very artistic performance revealing a voice of pleasing quality and sympathetic tone. Her singing was also marked with expression and ease, and her enunciation was a delight to the ear. Miss Loretta Louy of Toledo was her accompanist.

Of exceptionally able execution was the group given by Miss Gail Watson, violinist, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Rhea Watson Cable. Two singular compositions, "The Warriors" and "From the Wigwam" by Burleigh, a composer who has will be a matinee recital at the Presbyterian church, October 27, and a program which has been called "Indian Day" will be followed. The next artist's concert will be the Philadelphia orchestra under the direction of Leopold Stokowski.

THE PORTION MIRROR

A QUAIN TITTLE incident is told in the Monitor of a summer boarder, down on Cape Cod, who asked to see the attic up the steep rafterless stairs that rose out of the upper hall. Pleasantly agreeing, the daughter of the house took her up the almost vertical incline into a low, sweet-smelling garret roofed with great hand-hewn beams. In the corners dusty, shadowy shapes bulked large and small, spinning wheels and old hair trunks—all the romantic plunder of a century. There was an old mahogany cranberry-picker, for example; shaped like a duncecap, with its prongs smoothly turned and polished.

"Much too heavy for 'em nowadays," said the guide, smiling and shaking her head.

Peering about at the broken but beautifully-made chairs, old chests of drawers, and roughly carved cradles, the visitor picked up a long, slim frame, once gilt, with a small upper panel and a larger lower one—evidently the frame of an old mirror. Its exquisite beading and sheltering cornice were broken, and dust had darkened it, but it was lovely still.

"I don't remember ever seeing that," said the daughter of the house, examining it curiously. "I suppose it was too broken and dingy to be noticed. You may have it, if you want it." Then she added, as an afterthought: "If grandma doesn't want to keep it."

Down stairs, in a sunny window of the big kitchen, with the sunshine falling on the yellow-painted floor, on the sleepy cat, and the basket of mending in the window, grandma was shown the old frame and asked for permission to give it away.

She looked long and curiously at the dusty relic. Then she rubbed her eyes and looked again.

"Well, well, well! If that isn't Great-Aunt Sarah's portion mirror!" she exclaimed finally.

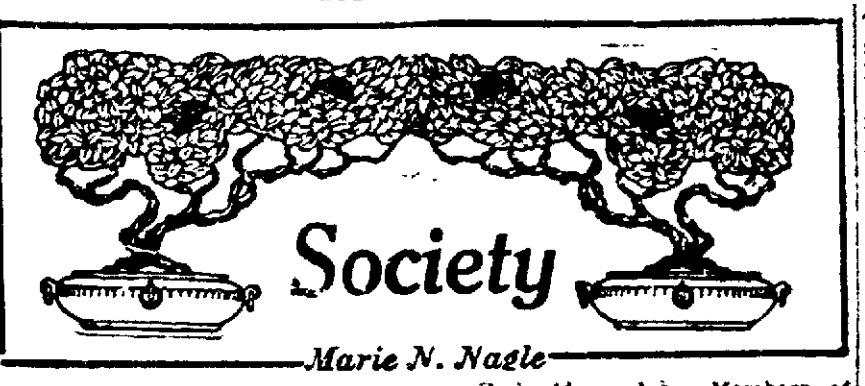

"Her what?" ejaculated the visitor and the granddaughter in one voice.

"Her portion mirror," repeated grandmother. "You know, in the old days, whenever a girl got married, she was given her portion of her father's furniture to furnish her new home with. She was given one table, one bed, one clock, one or two chairs, a few pieces of china, and one mirror, just to start off with. It was a kind of dowry, you see. I remember my mother telling me that this old gilt mirror was Great-Aunt Sarah's portion-mirror. It used to have a looking-glass in the lower part, you know and a picture of a bright green tree, blue sky, and red grass painted on the glass in the upper part. I haven't seen it since I was a child. It's gotten broken since then. Yes, my dear, you can have it, if you think you can ever fix it up. Great-Aunt Sarah's portion-mirror—well, well, well!"

The visitor took it back to New York, to a wise and loving renewer of antiques, and it hangs on her wall now, palely gold, with the heading and cornice restored—but she wishes it had in it the picture of the bright green tree, the blue sky, and the red grass!

Favors of Fashion
By CLARICE.

Direct from Paris to the Christian Science Monitor has come this account of the little touches that the maisons are giving to the fall fashions:

Not so many years ago a woman's first and last thought in glancing into a mirror was, "Is my hat straight?" But since that time the one particular thing required of her hat is that it shall not be on straight—that is, if it is to look truly smart. After the same manner, it seems probable that the moments can be otherwise employed that have been spent revolving patiently in front of a mirror, while the tailor or dressmaker marked with precision the exact, even length of the hem of the skirt. This, at least, is already true in regard to evening gowns, for not one among the new models seems to have an even line at the hem. And, after all, when one stops to consider, there is nothing graceful about a straight line above one's feet, and the Greeks were never guilty of employing it in the drapery that has been the admiration of ages. We shall soon, no doubt, become accustomed to the quaint effect of skirts that are short in front and trail behind, or short all around with long side panels that fall in points, and various other devices used to break the straight hem. At any rate, the new models showing these effects are beautiful; the combinations of colors, the real magnificence of the embroidery used in such profusion, and the richness of the materials, leave one in a state of wonder at what the great artists of Paris have accomplished.

Mme. Jenny's collection includes many hand-painted gowns; that is to say, birds, butterflies, and flowers, beautifully painted in soft pastel colors, are mingled with the gold and silver embroidery which all the houses have used extensively. This house also displays some distinct novelties which are perhaps among those strong notes that, from time to time, are boldly sounded as indicative of the far future trend of fashion, and which after startling the public are gradually adopted. One of these is pantalettes and trimmed angles; the other eccentricity is the bustle effect in front. Needless to say Paris is in no mood to take note of any fantastic mode; Mme. Jenny also includes in her collection many wearable gowns and suits, and these are charming and in the majority.

PRETTY, BUT OH MY!

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 5.—Police are today searching for a pretty blonde, described as being fashionably attired, about 20 years of age, who last night lured Herman Ronger, Peoria, Ill., to a dark doorway, where he was set on by three men and, after being beaten almost unconsistently was robbed of $75.

CHICAGO—Isaac T. Sade, 53, of Harris Station, O., and Alma Elliot, 52, of Chicago, were sweethearts 30 years ago. She heard the call of the city, he remained on the farm. But she found she loved him after all. Today they were married.

GIRL FINDS OUT IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Pretty Clara Blushoff, the girl who advertised for a husband in order that she might provide a home for her aged mother, today was fairly deluged with offers of marriage.

By letter and in person, business men, farmers, mechanics and professional men laid their hearts at the young woman's feet. The postman has left more letters at the little home at 115 Kent avenue in Green Point in the past two days than he previously had carried there in a year. Practically every one contains an offer of marriage.

Miss Blushoff is sticking to her word that she intended to investigate each applicant for her hand carefully. She is going over the list she has with care. She has stated that the man she wants must earn at least $50 a week. Several applicants so far, it was said today, come within that class.

CHAMPION MEAN MAN.

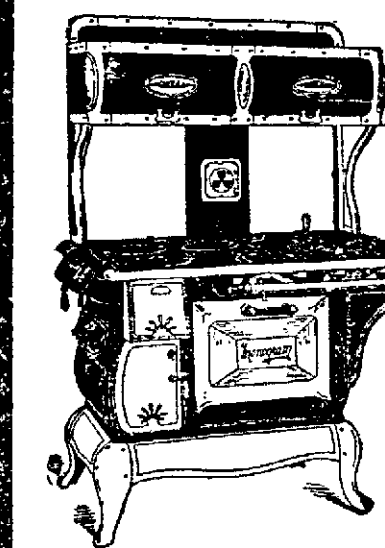

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6.—Late Brad-dock parents today are looking for the "meanest man" with "blood in their eyes." He qualified for the title last evening when, in response to the clamor of a score of children scolding Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stuffle at the bride's home in Camp avenue, he threw several hundred hot pennies from an upper window. The shower of hot coins painfully burned several children about the head and face and others were burned trying to pick up the pennies.

THE FAUROT'S PICTURES.

Audiences at the Faurot are expressing the liveliest kind of satisfaction with "God's Half Acre," the Metro production in which charming Mabel Taliaferro is doing some of the best work she has shown upon the screen. As Blossom the "angel" and a clever comedy "The Lady Killer," with Ralph Herz in the leading role. Last time tonight.

AT THE STRAND.

At the Strand today will Rhea Mitchell appear in another of the five-reel Mutual Masterpieces entitled "Overalls." In this her work is very commendable and it is at the request of several that this attraction is being played again at the Strand today. The old price of admission—five cents—will prevail.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AGAIN.

At the Royal tomorrow Charlie Chaplin makes his entrance with the new two-reel Mutual comedy entitled "The Vagabond." In this, an entire band of roving gypsies was engaged for the occasion and they fell in heartily with the affair. Eric Campbell, the big fellow who always plays the heavy lead opposite Charlie, takes the part of the gypsy leader and he never appeared fiercer and to better advantage than in this role. A roving band of gypsies had kidnapped the daughter of a wealthy eastern capitalist during her infancy and she had been raised as a member of the tribe. But of course you want to know where Charlie comes in! Well, Charlie on this occasion is a lover of the free and easy life; one of those who loves nature so well that he likes to play out on the green grass and do little work. But here's the story. Charlie, with his keen perception, upon seeing this band of roving gypsies and observing the girl (which part is played by Edna Purviance), immediately has a "hunch" that this girl is not a gypsy. Then he proceeds to satisfy himself of this fact. After many thrilling adventures, Charlie rescues the girl from the blood-thirsty gypsies and restores her to her parents. Then what happens? Well, attend the Royal tomorrow and see!

AT THE ROYAL TODAY.

The many who saw William Russell and Charlotte Burton play in "The Highest Bid," a five reel Masterpiece at the Royal yesterday, were well pleased at the general directing of this production. Insofar as it starts as a society drama, there is an abundance of fine clothes, which naturally appeal to women. Then the love romance adds a little more to the interest. A mother wants her daughter to marry a man of wealth and social standing while the girl's preference is for a self-made man. When the mother insists, Strong, the rejected suitor, goes out west, while the girl is compelled to make the best of it and permit her engagement to be announced. Fortune seems to favor Strong, however, for it happens that the girl is invited for a vacation to a hunting lodge in the west where Strong had taken up a claim with an old miner. A great forest fire occurs, in which Strong not only proves his courage and interest in the girl, but the girl's fiancé proves himself a coward of the first water. Result is that the mother changes her mind regarding her daughter, and the girl marries the man of her choice, who in the meantime had discovered a rich lode in the mine they were working and which fact adds additional joy to the mother's heart. Today will be the last day of showing.

AT DREAMLAND.

At Dreamland today Gretchen Hartman, Alan Dale, William Russell and Thomas Jefferson will play the leads in the three reel Biograph production "Madeline Morel." This is taken in some of the most beautiful woodland scenery ever displayed and there is more than one triangle. A poor girl is left motherless in a large city and as sometimes happens to girls without a guiding hand, she accepts the attentions of a man whose intentions are not of the best. Her experience with this man, her being befriended by an actress, her return to her home and friends, and the consequent results of her chance meeting with this man of the city form a series of incidents which make this attraction one of unusual interest. In addition to this a Beauty comedy will grace the screen.

How Cataract is Contracted. Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the colds which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucous membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. Obtainable everywhere. mo-wed-fri coast the influence of Europe are sometimes felt.

"In order to carry out a program you must have unification of spirit in America," he continued. "There can be no program without a unified course behind it."
"It is very important that the statesmen of other nations should understand America. We have held off from the conflagration in Europe because we wanted to play a different part."
The president was interrupted by applause and shouts of "We thank you."
The causes of the European war, the president said, are not plainly known.
"But Europe should understand us," he said. "We are holding off because when we use the force of this nation we want to know what we are using it for."
"There is as much fight in America as in any nation in the world. 'Must be Truly American.'"
"We want always to hold the force of America to fight for the rights of mankind, not for the rights of property. But in fighting for these things we should know what the reason it has been the studios endeavor of recent years to see to it that business men got rid of the belief which some of them had that the law was intended to restrain them and not intended to serve them.

"Take the anti-trust law for example. Until very recently, I venture to say, most American business men spoke of the anti-trust laws with a curse under their breath—just as men think of shackles; just as men think of being deprived of opportunity. And we heard a great deal of talk about big business getting no sympathy. That was not the trouble.
"Big business had plenty of sympathy, but bad business ought not to have had any sympathy and what our laws stood in need of was the definition of what was good and what was bad. What they stood in need of was a distinct expression of the idea that was back of them. That idea was merely this, unfair competition is intolerable. But if the competition is fair, the scale upon which it is carried on is not only of no concern to the law makers, but the bigger the scale the more splendid the result—always provided it is conducted with fairness and honor and openness.
"Tells of Steps Taken.
"Therefore an attempt was very properly made to define what was fair and what under unfair competition; to provide tribunals which would distinctly determine what was fair and what under unfair competition and to supply the business community not merely with lawyers in the department of justice who would cry, 'Stop!' but with men in such tribunals as the federal trade commission who would say 'Go on,' who could warn where things were going wrong and assist instead of check.
"Some of these days, gentlemen, when the great tides of business are running free in this country, you will look back upon the last three years and say, 'That was when the channels were dug for this great time.' As compared with the verdict of the next 25 years I do not care a peppercorn about the verdict of 1916, because I know how those laws were conceived. I know their purpose and I know they are already serving their purpose, and I call you to witness that never before in your lifetime was credit so individually available in this country as at this time. Individual credit—not cornered credit—credit that could be had if you had assets and good commercial paper; credit that could be had without favor; credit to which the volume of currency would instantly respond; credit which could be sustained by resources, by gold reserves which could be mobilized anywhere in the country.
"America has been following examples so long; America has been imitating the way other people did things so long whereas America has a store of original genius such as could accomplish any achievement; that the human mind can conceive. So I, for my part, am proud to have co-operated with groups of enlightened men in seeing to it that the barriers were broken down and the road made free and the rules of the game made fair to everybody." stars.

Thought of Nation as Whole.
"You see, therefore, I think what the thrill of suggestion in the memories of Nebraska is for me when I think of this nation as a whole. It has been necessary for nearly four years past, my fellow citizens, for me to think of American as a whole, not to think of any special interest, not to think of any special position, not to think of any special sympathy, merely to try to conceive in my heart what the America that you and I love is what it has been and what it ought to be; to try to guide the counsels of this nation so that men may see afterward stamped upon the conduct of that time some guiding principles, some ruling passion of the mind, some persistent conception of what America stands for, so that along the horizon under the dark, murky clouds of doubt that have shadowed our time there may appear a gleaming clear light of a day that is going to dawn when the liberties of mankind shall have behind them the united force and affection of all the people of the world."
President Wilson, in his address before the Omaha Commercial club, said in part:
"There are many circumstances that make one feel that the present state of the world is beyond measure tragical. And yet, my fellow countrymen, I believe that this great catastrophe which has fallen upon the world in the shape of war is going to do us in America, at any rate, a great service.
"Lives in a New Age."
"It is going to oblige every man to know that he lives in a new age and that he has got to act, not according to the traditions of the past, but according to the necessities of the present, and the prophecies of the future. America, up to the present time, has been as if by deliberate choice confined and provincial and it will be impossible for her to remain confined and provincial."
"The extraordinary circumstance is that for the next decade, at any rate—after that it will be a matter of our own choice whether it continues or not, but for the next decade, at any rate, we have got to serve the world. That alters every commercial question; it alters every political question; it alters every question of domestic development. The men who insist upon going on to do the old things in the old way are going to be at the tail end of the procession. The swing of our destiny has at last become as wide as the horizon. And the thing that we have to be careful about is that we do this thing in a new way."
"It has hitherto been done by those who wanted to exploit the world. It has got to be done now in a way that will deserve the confidence of the world. American character as well as American enterprise is going to be put to the test."
"Wealth Poured Upon Us."
"The fact is that the world has poured its wealth upon us by reason of the fact that we are at last waking up to the fact that the world has need of the wealth that we possess, and that therefore the real business of legislation is to release these forces and to see to it that impediments new or old shall not be placed in the way. MISSIONARY TELLS OF DARKEST AFRICA

The Rev. A. J. Bowen, for eight years missionary in the upper Congo region in South Africa, addressed a large audience at the First Christian church last night, who gathered to hear him explain his work. He said slavery, polygamy and superstition are the things the missionary must fight.

Women are exchanged for commodities of the region and are considered as chattels.

Where the white man has worked, the standard of civilization is raised and he stated the black men were anxious to have the missionaries come to teach them.

While in Lima attending the session of the Auglaize Baptist association, Dr. Bowen was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thomas, of 1002 West Spring street.

THREE INDICTED FOR DETAINING WOMAN

SANDUSKY, O., Oct. 6.—The grand jury in its report yesterday afternoon indicted three men against Clarence Schemenauer of this city and Harry Truka and Homer Smith of Bucyrus, who were arrested on the complaint of Mrs. Anna Eisenmann, wife of Louis Eisenmann, an East Cleveland druggist, last August.

Mrs. Eisenmann said the trio accosted her at Cedar Point while her husband was away from her. She momentarily forced her to accompany them into a dense woods and held her from 11 o'clock at night until nearly 4 the next morning, when she purchased her release with two diamond rings.

LAUGH FEST NOW ON AT ORPHEUM

If you are looking for a laugh, the present vaudeville program at the Orpheum will more than supply that want. One laughing feature is that of "The Peckles," a girl act with a couple of live comedians that keep the audience in roars of laughter. Tommy Toner and Mandie Kay in the roles of a "siss" stander and the latter as the porter are an admirable pair of comedians. Miss Ethel Underwood leads several numbers with a group of pretty singing and dancing girls which drew much applause. Another distinct feature is the Big City Four, a quartette of male voices that would be hard to beat, their different harmony numbers winning them repeated encores. Barney Gilmore and Miss Shirley in a laughable playlet "An Irish Honey-moon" kept the audience thoroughly amused and interested. Howatson and Swaybell in a singing and talking act, called a "Case of Peckles" offer a novelty act in which the male member does some extraordinary feats of strength proved most interesting.

"GETS-IT" NEVER FAILS FOR CORNS!

There's Nothing on Earth Like It for Corns and Calluses. "Whenever you get corns and calluses, don't experiment—just use "GETS-IT" and nothing else. Easiest and simplest thing I know to use—just a few drops on it, a few seconds—"GETS-IT" does the rest!

The old way is to bundle up your toes in harnesses and bandages, use salves that make toes raw, cotton rings that make your corns pop-eyed, knives and "diggers" that tear your heart out and leave the corn in. No wonder they make you limp and wince. Forget all these—use "GETS-IT," the simplest corn remedy in the world, easiest to use, never fails or sticks, painless. Barry And Walsh Fortunate Guys In Series Games

By Frank G. Menke.
They may trade or they may sell Jack Barry if they will. But those world series shakels keep going to him still.

"Black Jack" Barry is "in" again. A big league regular for eight seasons, he has "horned" into six world series splits. It's a "lucky guy" record that probably won't be beaten for years and years.

Barry was crowned by Connie Mack in 1908 after he had performed brilliantly for the Holy Cross college team. The next season he became a regular, and the following one he contracted the world series habit. Only one since then has he been able to shake it off.

Barry, with the Athletics, took part in the world series of 1910, 1911, 1913 and 1914. When Connie Mack wrecked his machine, "Black Jack" was sold to the Red Sox and right away won two pennants—1915 and 1916.

Perhaps the luckiest part of this lucky life that only once he had to take the loser's end of the drug bag. That was in 1914 when the Braves steamrolled the Mackmen. On all other occasions he got the better portion of the bulge.

Barry is guaranteed about $20,000 a season. He has a lot of money. A lot of 4,000 more. A lot of 1,000 extra "pay". A lot of 1,000 extra "pay". A lot of 1,000 extra "pay".

Walsh Another "Lucky Guy." Jimmy Walsh is another fortunate specimen. He's had a rather checkered career; never has ranked as a star—never much beyond the mediocre. Yet, Jeems has been pushed into three world series.

He was sold to the Athletics by Baltimore in 1913 and the deal was put through just in time to get him in on the divvy. In 1914 he was let out to the Yankees but taken back by the Athletics in time to let him in on another share of the world series money.

And this season Jeems bobs up as in a Red Sox uniform and as a participant in the distribution of the mazzuma.

World seriesing won't be a new experience for at least three of the Dodgers. Marquard, Merkle and Meyers form the trio upon whom more "soft" money is to be showered again. The three were supposed to have outlined most of their usefulness when John McGraw let them go to the Dodgers, yet they are not too far from collecting $3,000 or $4,000 in extra money this year.

Each of the three has figured in three world series already. This 1916 affair makes their fourth. As members of the 1911, 1912 and 1913 Giants they each drew down a total of about $11,000 to assist in sooth-ing and sustaining them in their old age.

Fans Flock To Boston For Worlds Series Contest

By Frank G. Menke.
BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 6.—Once again Boston is in the throes of a baseball frenzy. Not since 1912 has there been as much enthusiasm over this world series business as there is today. Not only are the natives involved in the merry scramble for pastebards, but out of towners as well are after them. At least 20,000 visitors are here and every one for the sole purpose of getting into Braves field before the bell rings at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

One of the strangest of many strange things here today is that there is in terrible fear of Richard Marquard, formerly a left handed actor, and now the same sort of a catching person. The Sox partisans feel that this once-time erratic but now thoroughly reformed member of the Dodgers may be the one nurbie that the Sox will not be able to overcome in their race toward the world's championship goal line.

They don't fear Pfeiffer, Coombs, Heney or any other finger for the former circuit champions. But Marquard is something else again. The Sox have studied his heaving record the past six weeks. They feel he is at top form now and they are fearful that the southpaw is going to catch the Sox right into oblivion.

He is expected in the betting. The odds are 10 to 7 on the Sox to win the series. They'll be 10 to 6, 10 to 5, 10 to 4, 10 to 3, 10 to 2, 10 to 1 that the Sox will win any game in which Marquard does not start, but they won't put up anything better than even money on a game in which Marquard will work.

The chances are that the inaugural affair will be one involving portable moundsmen. Ruth, undoubtedly will work for the Sox with Cady on the receiving end. Marquard is primed for action and probably will be the champion of the Dodgers' leader.

The Sox went through a final workout in Braves field early in the afternoon. Jack Barry made another attempt to convince Bill Carrigan he is in working condition. But he failed to show. The wounded fingers of the Red Sox captain still make it impossible for him to do any fast throwing and he won't go into either of the first two games, probably.

Superbas Leave For Bean Town

By Arthur Struve.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—With all the pomp and grandeur that made the old time minstrel favorites as they marched through village streets, the Dodgers, National league champions, left today for Boston, where tomorrow they will tackle the Red Sox in the first game of the world's title series.

Assembled early at Ebbetts field, the players, club officials, handlers, etc., headed by a brass band, marched around the field while hundreds of their admirers cheered and wished them well. Then the men who will represent the National league in the big series, climbed into touring cars and with the band still preceding them, rode through the streets of Brooklyn until they left their automobiles and embarked on the subway for the Grand Central depot, where they entrained for Boston. The players were full of confidence. They feel that having survived the terrific struggle in their league to land the coveted flag, that they will come through victorious in the fight for the premier baseball honors.

No inkling was given by Manager Robinson who he would send to the mound in the opener tomorrow. It is believed that will be Rube Marquard, the southpaw who, when Brooklyn's hopes seemed darkest last Saturday, twirled phenomenal ball and checked the drive that would have made the Phillies the champions instead of the Dodgers.

BROOKLYN PREDICTED TO WIN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Just spoke to Damon Runyon, president emeritus of the Hard Boiled Eggs.

He says he likes Brooklyn to win the series and is picking them on brute strength alone. That's no kid either. They do resemble Jess Willard a lot when you stop to think of foot work, high and fancy diving, blocking and the like.

Willard is such an awful chunk of beef that the other poor mitt-pushers have little chance with him.

Same way with Brooklyn. The boys certainly are a well fed bunch. Fast as a coal truck on the paths, something like a sleepy guy when they think, but, oh, lady! How they can pickle the old pill when they get going.

"I like the Dodgers myself. Their pitchers are just as good as Boston's. The Bean Eaters may have a shade, but in the world's series, you know, many stars are made overnight. Coombs and Marquard certainly look trained to the minute, and if each of them does not win a game there's going to be a bunch of disappointed dopesters."

Van Wert High Will Play Lima Here Tomorrow

Coach Hill of the Lima high school team announces that his proteges are in the pink of condition for the contest with the Van Wert team at College field, Saturday afternoon. This is the second game of the season for the Lima squad.

With a victory to their credit in the initial game of the season, that over Fostoria, one of the most dangerous teams in the state, that Lima squad feel that they have the best eleven that has represented the local high school in a number of years. This is the first win Lima has achieved over Fostoria in a number of years.

According to the report received from Van Wert, the local eleven will have a battle on their hands tomorrow, as the visitors are reported to have a good fast team. Although it is possible that two Lima teams will be on the field tomorrow, the following players will be used on the first team:

Keating and Straker, ends; Selats, Fisher and Hadsell, tackles; Sakemiller and Thomas, guards; Riker and Kilgore, center; Bible, quarter; Scoville and Lerch, halves, and Churchill, fullback.

White Sox Win From The Cubs

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—With two games of the city series won by the American leaguers, the Cubs still are undaunted and it will take another defeat today to convince the Tinkerites that they haven't a look-in in the base ball championship of Chicago. With the two best pitchers of the Sox, Russell and Faber out of the way the Cubs are confident the tide will turn. Both were hit hard but got the breaks, the National leaguers say, and the Sox twirlers who are left should prove easier. Mike Prendergast is slated to hurl for the Cubs today. Manager Rowlands' choice is unknown.

Rumor False

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 6.—Frank Chance, one time leader of the Chicago Cubs knows nothing of any plan to give him the job once more.

"No suggestion or proposal looking to that has been made to me," said Chance. "The rumor undoubtedly is groundless. As to whether I would accept the old place I cannot say. My home is here on the coast, all my interests are here, I am part owner of the team I am managing and I am very well satisfied. It will be time enough to talk about the Cubs when I am offered a place with them."

Sidney Is Ready To Play Lima

The manager of the Sidney club predicts that the Independents will face one of the toughest crowds they have met this season in the Sidney team next Sunday. The club has been strengthened since the defeat administered by Lima during the early part of the season and is considered one of the best semi-pro clubs in the state.

With Lintchium in the box the visitors will be dangerous at all stages of the game. On the previous occasion of the visit of the Sidney club to Lima, Lintchium was unable to work on account of sickness. Carroll will work in his last game of the season. As the weather being

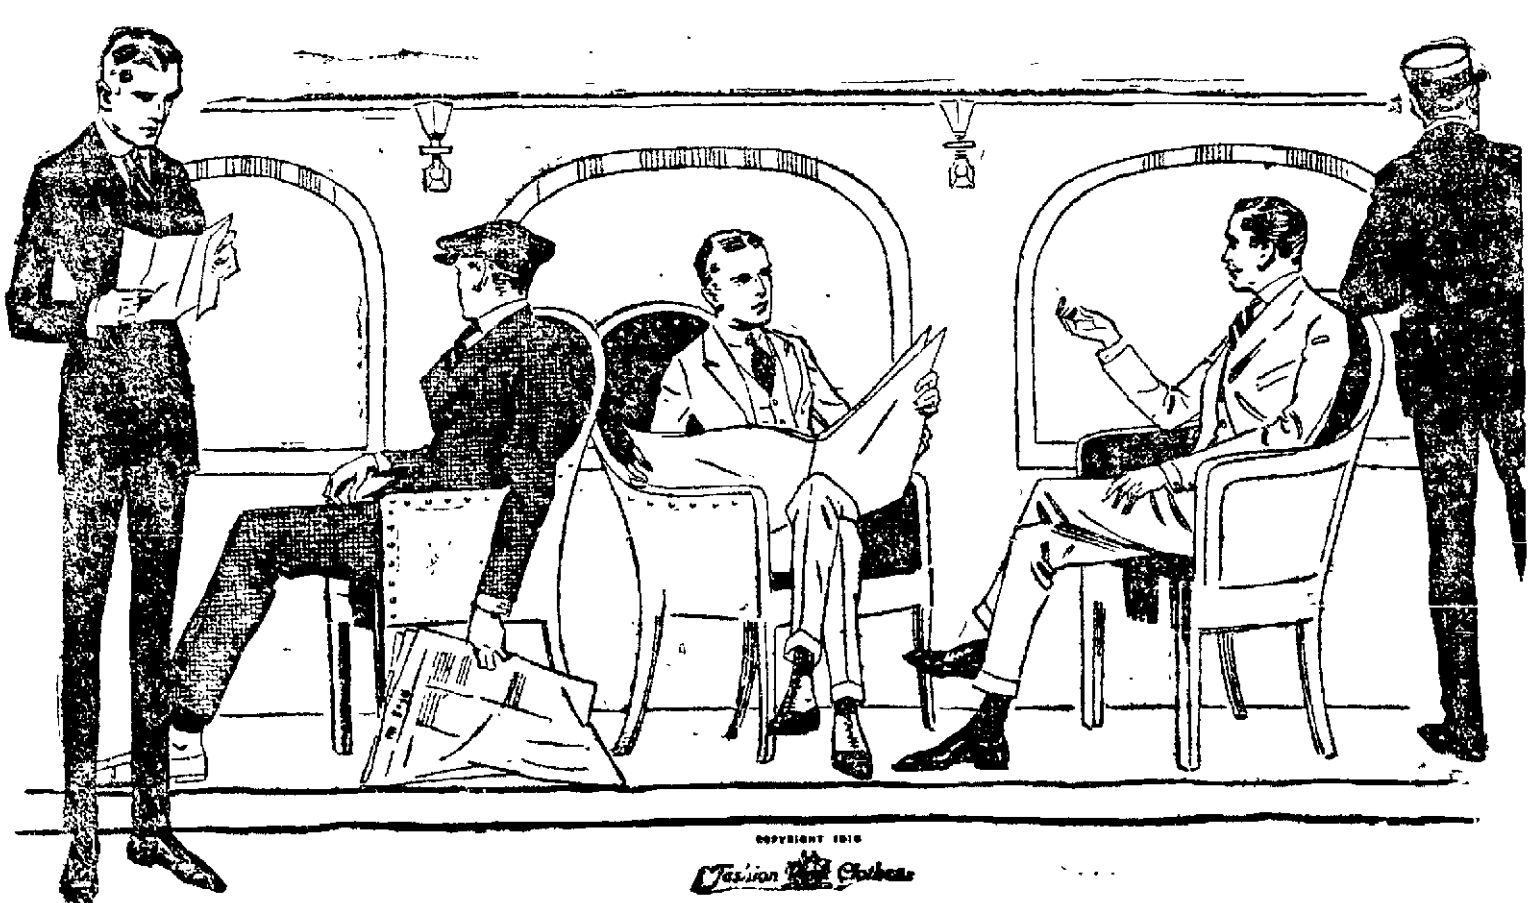

Cards Outplayed

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 6.—Interest in the series between the Browns and the Cardinals rapidly is dwindling. The Browns, victors in both games played so far, have outplayed the National leaguers all along the line and the city championship virtually is conceded them.

GAY YOUTHS FIGHT OVER SHOW TIGHTS

CANTON, O., Oct. 6.—A fight in the middle of a country road for possession of two pairs of tight-fitting trousers belonging to chorists girls paved the way to an automobile accident near here.

The episode began with a burlesque show held here last night. After the show five Canton youths in a machine started with two of the chorist girls for a roadhouse near town. The girls took their fight with them. On the way the boys quarreled for possession of the tight-fitting trousers. The car was stopped and the fight proceeded in the road. When a wealthy Canton boy came along with another party in his car the chorist girls appealed to him to bring them back to town. He took them in and started. The other party, seeing the girls leaving, stopped their battle and gave chase. A mile beyond they overtook the fleeing girls and ran their car off the road by crashing into it. Carl Hudson, a member of the rescuing party, who was riding on the running board to make room for the girls, was thrown off the car and badly hurt.

Terrible Croup Attack Quickly Repulsed By Old Reliable Remedy

Well known Georgia store keeper has managed croup and colds for his family of ten with Vick's Honey and Tar Compound.

The minute that hoarse, terrifying croupy cough is heard in the home of T. J. Barber, of Jefferson, Ga., out comes Vick's Honey and Tar Compound, pound-cake always a bottle ready.

Here's what he says: "Two of my children, one boy and a girl, aged eight and six years respectively, had terrible attacks of croup last winter and I completely cured them with Vick's Honey and Tar Compound. I have ten in family and for years I've used Vick's Honey and Tar Compound and it never fails."

Banish worry and have doctor bills kept away. Vick's Honey and Tar Compound always on hand, in your home. One bottle lasts a long time—it's reliable and safe—and the last dose is as good as the first. Get the genuine.

H. F. VORTKAMP.

DAYTON, OHIO, Mrs. Thomas Johnson, 1834 Germantown Street:—

"My little boy was taken with a severe case of croup a few weeks ago, and after trying everything I knew without much relief, my Vick's Rub gave me a jar of Vick's Vapor Rub, which I used with splendid results. I also find it a fine remedy for headache, and shall always keep it in my home hereafter."

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Mrs. F. B. Hinds, 901 Bellows Ave., writes:—

"We have used your Vick's Vapor Rub Salve on our baby, and we can recommend it to anyone, as it saved our child from having a bad case of pneumonia."

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Mr. Charles Thomas, 46 W. Maple St., states:—

"At the time I received your remedy I was suffering with a severe cold, chest and throat all choked up, sense of smell all lost. I followed your directions, using hot wet towels to open the pores, and then rubbed Vick's Salve well in, and it certainly did work wonders, without taking a drop of any other medicine."

Vick's comes in salve form—you just apply it over the throat and chest, covering with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases the ingredients in the form of vapors that are inhaled, with each breath, all night long, loosening the phlegm and opening the air passages.

Terrible Croup Attack Quickly Repulsed By Old Reliable Remedy

Well known Georgia store keeper has managed croup and colds for his family of ten with Vick's Honey and Tar Compound.

The minute that hoarse, terrifying croupy cough is heard in the home of T. J. Barber, of Jefferson, Ga., out comes Vick's Honey and Tar Compound, pound-cake always a bottle ready.

Here's what he says: "Two of my children, one boy and a girl, aged eight and six years respectively, had terrible attacks of croup last winter and I completely cured them with Vick's Honey and Tar Compound. I have ten in family and for years I've used Vick's Honey and Tar Compound and it never fails."

Banish worry and have doctor bills kept away. Vick's Honey and Tar Compound always on hand, in your home. One bottle lasts a long time—it's reliable and safe—and the last dose is as good as the first. Get the genuine.

H. F. VORTKAMP.

DAYTON, OHIO, Mrs. Thomas Johnson, 1834 Germantown Street:—

"My little boy was taken with a severe case of croup a few weeks ago, and after trying everything I knew without much relief, my Vick's Rub gave me a jar of Vick's Vapor Rub, which I used with splendid results. I also find it a fine remedy for headache, and shall always keep it in my home hereafter."

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Mrs. F. B. Hinds, 901 Bellows Ave., writes:—

"We have used your Vick's Vapor Rub Salve on our baby, and we can recommend it to anyone, as it saved our child from having a bad case of pneumonia."

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Mr. Charles Thomas, 46 W. Maple St., states:—

"At the time I received your remedy I was suffering with a severe cold, chest and throat all choked up, sense of smell all lost. I followed your directions, using hot wet towels to open the pores, and then rubbed Vick's Salve well in, and it certainly did work wonders, without taking a drop of any other medicine."

Vick's comes in salve form—you just apply it over the throat and chest, covering with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases the ingredients in the form of vapors that are inhaled, with each breath, all night long, loosening the phlegm and opening the air passages.

"HAREMS" FOR FALL BUYERS FIGURE IN BIG DAMAGE SUIT

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Maintenance of a "string of harems" for the exclusive benefit of out-of-town buyers, is one of the charges made against Philip Goldstein, a wealthy cloak manufacturer of this city, in a suit for $50,000, filed by Louis J. Kahn, president of a big New York mercantile company, for alleged alienation of Mrs. Kahn's affections.

The functions of the alleged "harems", according to the plaintiff, are for the women in them to respond to telephone calls, accompany buyers on motor trips to nearby resorts and to keep them company at exclusive hotels.

Mrs. Kahn and four other women, alleged to have been used by Goldstein and other cloak manufacturers for the entertainment of out-of-town business friends testified before the grand jury today. District Attorney Swann announced this afternoon that a general investigation of the methods in vogue in the cloak industry here would be commenced by the grand jury Monday.

Silk stockings, expensive lingerie and pajamas were exhibited before the grand jury as being among the "souvenir" gifts of the "parties."

A letter alleged to have been written by Goldstein to Mrs. Kahn addressing her as "My Wonderful Girl" also was introduced. Goldstein is married and has two children.

CHARACTERIZES THE MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP PROGRAM.

If you were going to enter the business world, wouldn't you make some provision for the future?

Would you put your entire capital into the stock-in-trade, or would you allow some sort of a reserve fund for the future?

Would you expect the original fixtures of your store or the original machinery of your factory to last forever, or would you allow for depreciation?

If you had a trace of business sense, you would look farther ahead than the first pay-day. You would provide for the future. You would arrange for a reserve fund. You would have a sinking fund for deterioration. But do the municipal ownership advocates, now urging the city of Lima to start out in the telephone business, consider this angle in their proposed ordinance?

Take the matter of extension as an example. During the past year the local telephone company has expended about $40,000 in extending the service. Yet not one word providing for this important factor is involved in the measure which the leaders of one political party hope to pass in the coming election.

That ordinance would practically cut every wire at the city limits. It calls for the operation of the system "within the corporate limits of Lima" alone. Therefore city operation of the plant would mean

1. No long distance service.
2. No suburban service.
3. No rural service.
4. No extension of the present service.
5. No means of repairing plant and lines except by expending money from the city treasury.
6. No means of meeting losses by fire, flood, storm, lightning bolts or other accidents save by going to the city general fund.
7. No allowance for insurance.
